Chair Yoga: A gentle yoga class that is practiced sitting in a chair or standing using a chair for support. Chair yoga is a general term for practices that modify yoga poses so that they can be done while seated in a chair. Many of the basic body mechanics of the individual postures are retained, no matter the stance of the practitioner. While seated on chairs, students can do versions of twists, hip stretches, forward bends, and mild backbends. In addition to a good stretch, chair yoga participants can also enjoy other health benefits of yoga, including improved muscle tone, better breathing habits, reduction of stress, better sleep and a sense of well-being. All levels

AQUA CLASSES

Aqua Bikes: is a low impact, high cardio class that uses an aqua bike. An aqua bike is similar to the indoor stationary cycles you see at the gym, except that they're placed in the water. They have pedals that are average-sized and a seat and handlebars, much like a regular bike. These bikes are submerged in about 3-4 feet of water, and the rider pedals against the water. Aqua cycling is a challenging cardio and strength workout that is great for many types of exercisers, including those with mobility issues or those recovering from an injury. The water's buoyancy helps to provide support to working muscles and joints, and the moisture in the pool helps to draw heat away from the body and regulate body temperature.

AquaTone: is a low impact, high cardio class that incorporates abdominal and upper body strength and toning moves throughout the entire class, with the assistance of hand buoys, noodles and kickboards. Though the focus is on abs and arms, it provides an intense cardio workout. All levels
